WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—"Cracking down" on Henry Ford has put the Blue Eagle on the spot to a greater extent than most people in Washington realize.

It was a test which had to come.
Roosevelt and Johnson could not see the NRA flouted and do nothing.
They could not "crack down" on beauty shops, restaurants and other petty chiselers, meanwhile ignoring big business violators.

Ford is symbolic of big business violators. From a strategic viewpoint, however, his selection was unfortunate. He has complied with all the terms of the automobile code in fact gone the code one or two better.

Up in Detroit, where Ford has not been unpopular in the past, folks are changing. Suddenly he's become something of a hero. Some time ago the Detroit Municipality came out with a great fanfare for the Blue Eagle. More recently they had to buy some new cars.

They debated whether to buy from Ford, whether to stand by the Blue Eagle, finally gave Ford the entire order.

WHAT'S BECOME OF?
Wonder what's become of Patrick
J. Hurley, Hoover's handsome secretary of war?

Just a year ago Pat was collecting cowboy hats, rushing about the country in airplanes, taking the blame for evicting the Bonus Army and predicting Herbert Hoover's overwhelming re-election.

Today Pat has a law office in his Shoreham Building—high-paneled walls, mounted horns of a Texas long horn steer, one or two callers, and a secret ambition to succeed
blind Senator Gore from Oklahoma.

REAL SIGNIFICANCE
The date of Roosevelt's move toward recognizing Russia was not mere accident. He speeded up his move because of secret telegrams received by the State Department.

These reported that three divisions of Japanese troops had been massed secretly along the Siberian zation to substitute bus service between Richmond and Oakland for the present street car system.

This new service will be started on November 7.

Service Promised
St. Sure told the meeting that no change will be made in the Mira Vista bus service, with the exception that the line will be continued to the Standard Oil plant instead of stopping at Tenth and Macdonald as at present.

St. Sure promised his audience that an adequate service would be provided for Mira Vista.

Calm Entertains
At the conclusion of the meeting Clarence Cain, well known local druggist, entertained the large audience with feats of magic. His program was thoroughly enjoyed.

will be held some time in December, it was stated.

Possession Of Property Asked

MARTINEZ, Nov. 2—A second unlawful detainer action against Bert Pearce, seeking restitution of premises at 207 San Diego avenue, Richmond Annex, was filed in superior court today by Emma Duncan, as administratrix of the estate of Domenico Gobba.

The plaintiff claims the property was rented to Pearce for $50 per month and that rental from August 1933 to September, 1933, is due.

Return of the property and $2.65
for each day it is withheld is sought by the plaintiff.

Two Enraged
Filipinos In Woman Attack

MODESTO, Nov. 2 —UP— An asserted murderous attack on a rooming house proprietress who refused two Filipinos accommodation because of their race, resulted in the arrest of Joe Rasse 30 and Pete Ramelo here today.

Mrs. Harry Schuck told police the pair hit her with a pair of brass knuckles and threatened her husband with knives when she refused them a room.

court yesterday by Attorney T. N.
Caffee, dissolution of partnership and accounting is asked by Grace
Thompson in a suit against David J. Decker.

The plaintiff says that on August 25, 1927, she and Decker entered into a partnership in a business known as Decker's Garage at 301 San Pablo avenue.

A Mystery

INQUIRY into the death of Mrs.
Bessie Cline, above, wife of Alfred L. Cline, continued in Los Angeles with indications that the case might have widespread ramifications. Cline, himself, is under arrest while authorities investigate the deaths of several other relatives whose wills named the former insurance broker as beneficiary.

Cline Death Clues Found By Officers

LAS VEGAS, Nov. 2—UP—Handwriting on two bottles of cyanide tonight added new evidence, police said, to a series of four
"heart attack" deaths among relatives and friends of Albert L.
Cline, rich ex-convict held in California on suspicion of murder.

Los Angeles district attorney's investigators said they were convinced that signatures found in the records of poison purchases at a local pharmacy were in Cline's handwriting.

The poison itself, police claimed, was found on Cline when arrested recently in San Bernardino, charged with robbing Martin Frane, elderly Los Angeles man.

As the tangled web of circumstances unfolded, authorities sought to link the cyanide with the sudden attack of illness suffered by Frane and with the deaths of four others.

Bus Service To Start On November 7

According to an announcement made yesterday, new bus service will be started here on the morning of Tuesday, November 7. At that date all street car service will be discontinued between here and Oakland.

The route will be down San Pablo to Macdonald to Sixth street, Local bus lines to Mira Vista and Barrett avenue will act as feeder lines.

Stee residents were informed that service over Pullman and Portero avenues would be operated between 6:35 and 9:45 a.m.
and between 2:35 and 6:55 p.m.
Sunday morning services will be moved forward to allow residents transportation to church.

Street cars will operate only as far as Ashby avenue in Berkeley from Oakland.

Mrs. B. Collier Opens Restaurant

Lyons place at 2015 Macdonald avenue has been remodeled, additions made, and in the future will be known as Lyons Buffet.

A modern eating place has been installed, and opened up for business yesterday. The restaurant will be operated by Mrs. Bessie Collier and Mrs. Pearl Saling.

Home cooking will be a feature of those who are operating the eating section. For over a year Mrs.
Collier conducted "Dad's cafe" two doors east of the present location.

MYSTERY DEATH TAKES 2 TOTS HAVANA SCENE OF NEW RIOT

SAN MARTIN DOWNFALL IMMINENT

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 2—UP—Downfall of the regime of President Gran San Martin appeared inevitable tonight as Havana seethed with disorder, bombing, shootings and political unrest.

More than a score of bombs have been exploded and hundreds of shots fired in the past 24 hours. Rifle and pistol firing in the center of Havana internationally between speeding automobiles and troops guarding the streets kept the inhabitants on edge.

The people seemed heartily sick of the state of semi-anarchy here and in the provinces, and were in nervous fear of a serious uprising. There was no accurate check on the number of casualties, but numerous persons were reported injured and a policeman, Jesus Garcia died from last night's bomb explosion at police headquarters.

Night resorts, including the well known Sloppy Joe's, were mostly closing shortly after midnight and the city was losing much of its gay night life. An air of defeat prevailed and many persons asked American newspaper correspondents, "when will your marines land?"

Labor unrest and sabotage were reported from various points in the provinces. Troops patrolled the streets of Cienfuegos, where the consumers were on strike, using electricity, demanding a 40 percent rate reduction.

Bombings in Havana included one which shattered the front of

McCutcheon, the McCutcheon Transportation Company and George Campbell.

He asserts that on August 31, 1933, his automobile was struck by a truck and trailer owned by the McCutcheon company and driven by Campbell.

He suffered fractures of three left ribs and of three right ribs, as well as other less serious injuries.

torney T. M. Carlson.

Peace A. B. Wilson at Martinez yesterday on charges of driving while drunk.

Bray is free on bail. He is represented by Attorney Robert T.
Collins of Richmond.

Bray is charged as the driver of the car that sideswiped a machine in which Mrs. Ollie B. Odell of Richmond was riding several weeks ago near Avon. Mrs. Odell died as a result of injuries suffered in the accident.

Mrs. Odell's death was held accidental by a jury who investigated.

Masons Will Be Host For Lodge Heads

Preparations to entertain officers of the 34th Masonic district next Thursday evening at Masonic hall expected. An invitation has been extended to all Master Masons of the

BLACK JACKS, BOMBS USED IN STRIKE

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 2—UP— Clubs blackjacks and bombs, played an increasing part in the Wisconsin agricultural strike tonight as thousands of farmers roamed highway in an effort to close the state's principal markets.

While the governors of five midwestern states were in Washington to confer with President Roosevelt, farmers strengthened their picket lines and prepared for a huge mass meeting in Madison tomorrow.

The fourth bombing of the strike occurred today in Belsham, Wis., where damage estimated at $15,000
was caused by an explosive hurled into a cheese factory.

Deputy sheriffs and private guards hired by milk dealers used tear gas, batons and blackjacks in three pitched battles with the strikers.
Thirty-five pickets were arrested at Wausau after demolishing a milk truck.

At Marshfield, 2000 dairymen agreed to disregard the strike called Tuesday by Arnold Gibberts, state president of the Farm Holiday association. Another group of more than 5000 men concentrated at Wisconsin Rapid, where dealers rushed in milk during the night.

Since Gibberts' proclamation of a truce, the strike has continued by the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk
co.

Appearance of an increasing number of roving pickets in the vicinity of Milwaukee, Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., indicated the determination of the strikers to close large markets.

Acute shortage of milk have resulted in dozens of smaller centers.
The third raid in 24 hours on the Sunshine Dairy plant at Watertown resulted in destruction of almost 15,000 gallons of milk.

Ray Serberich, driver for the Sunshine Dairy, was beaten by strikers
when he attempted to run a barricade.

Several pickets were clubbed by guards on two trucks near Thomas-ville.

Kiwanis Club Entertained At Pittsburg

A large number of members of the Richmond Kiwanis club last night were entertained by the Pittsburg Kiwanis club at a session held at Pittsburg.

The local delegation was headed by John Regello, official of the local organization.

The Kiwanis members, on their return here late last night, reported that they enjoyed a first class program and dinner during the evening.

Fire At Crockett to Be Investigated

CROCKETT, Nov. 2—Investigation was under way today of a fire that destroyed a building, equipment and boats of the Dowdrell boat harbor here and which supposedly broke out in a rest room of the main building. Crockett firemen managed to save the harbor wharf owned by Tony Dowdrell, and which extends nearly 400 feet into the straits.

tonight from a tropical typhoon that did much damage in five provinces of the islands.

Twenty persons were missing and feared dead.

The typhoon whipped the provinces of Iloilo, Leyte, Cebu, Misamis and Palawan, starting severe days ago, reports from the province said that six were known to have lost their lives there.

COAST ELEVEN PREPARING FOR NEW CONTESTS

SEATTLE, Nov. 2.—UP—Bill Smith's kicking toe will be Coach Jimmy Phelan's ace in the hole when Washington meets California at Berkeley Nov. 11. Smith's two place kicks against Stanford put the Huskies back in the race, so Phelan gave his big end plenty of practice in booting in tonight's practice. It may be a place kicking duel between Archie Williams and Smith.

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 2.—UP—The sturdy Utah football squad now en route to Eugene to play Oregon Saturday may find a team of reserves facing them not long after the opening kickoff. Frank Callison, unwilling to risk injuries to his star players a week before the all-important Oregon State game, may keep Temple, Bob Parke, Alex Eagle and Dutch Clark out of the game. If the Utes prove easy meat, out will come the quartet, now nursing injuries from the U. C. L. A. battle.

PULLMAN, Wash., Nov. 2.—UP Odds are against Gonzaga when the Bulldogs meet Washington State College in Spokane Saturday. In the 18 games the two teams have played, Gonzaga has won but two. Houston Stockton led the Catholic eleven to victory in 1923 and 1924. The 1933 Cougar team is not given any soft afternoon's work at Spokane with most of the Gonzaga first team in good shape following the 6-0 game with U. S. F.

BERKELEY, Nov. 2.—UP—California feared the passing of U. C. L. A. as they tapered off today for the first engagement in coast football history between teams from the same university. Christie of California and Coates of U. C. L. A. were expected to wage a bitter battle at center. Coach Bill Ingram warned against the sophomore ball packer and passer, Cheshire.

SANTA CLARA, Nov. 2.—UP—Coach Clipper Smith said today he would prove that his famed "multiple spin offense" actually exists when Santa Clara plays Rice Institute Saturday at Kezar stadium. He will start his regular backfield of Sobrero, demon passer, Joe Paglia, Ike Britschgi and Bob Bosshardt. Later he will send in Salatin, Carlson, O'Donnell and Hector Guinetti to unfold the "multiple spin."

PALO ALTO, Nov. 2.—UP—Bob Hamilton, sophomore "kiki flash" was expected to come through with his first real performance of the season from his left half-back post when Stanford meets Olympic Club Saturday. Hamilton was out with injuries most of the season.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—UP—The 29 man squad of football players from Rice Institute, Houston, Tex., arrived here today and worked out in Kezar stadium, where Saturday Rice will play an inter-sectional game with Santa Clara university.

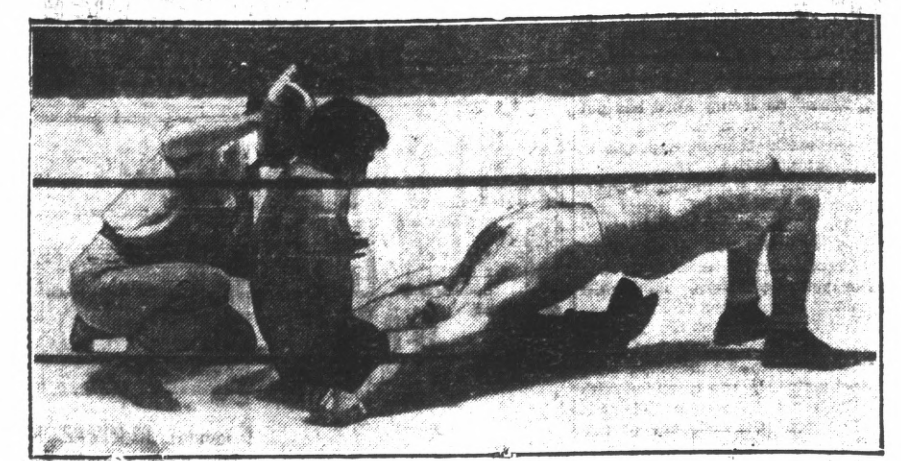

Jack Meagher, coach of the Owls, said his team was in perfect condition for the first time this season.

Both teams have been defeated, but each has a spectacular attack that features passing and kicking. Rice will work out again Friday.

George Challis, halfback, will be lost to the Tigers for several weeks. He sustained an injured shoulder in the second period of the game.

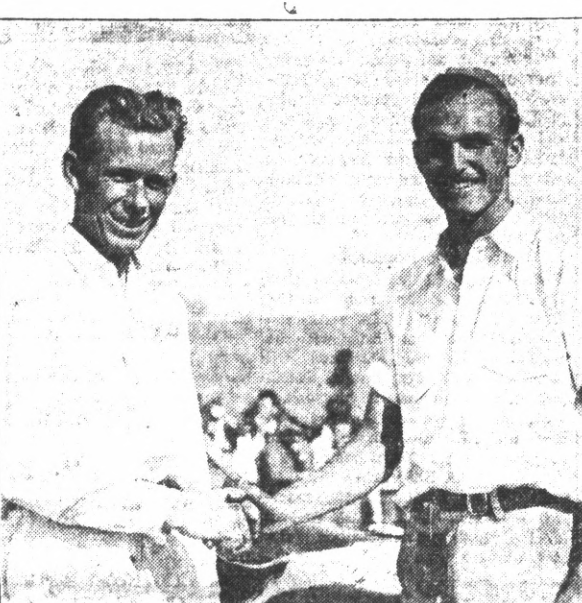

Coach A. A. Staggs is anticipating a gruelling contest from the Aggie men and is drilling his men hard for the game.

ERNIE TRIPLETT, left, 1931 and 1932 Pacific Coast champion, finds his championship honors for 1933 menaced by Rex Mays of Riverside who is the leading contender for the title. Triplett and Mays will hook up Sunday afternoon, November 12, in a 100-mile battle at the Oakland speedway which may definitely decide which of the pair is to be this year's champ.

Baer's Affairs Will Be Aired In Court Soon

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 2.—UP—The tangled managerial affairs of Max Baer, Livermore, Cal., heavyweight boxing contender and screen Lothario, were to be aired in court here November 10.

Max and his manager, Anell Hoffman, were here tonight preparing for the court action in straining J. Hamilton Lorimer.

ST. MARYS WILL GET BIG CROWD IN EAST GAME

RYE, N. Y., Nov. 2.—UP—If its power and speed you like in your football teams, then pick St. Mary's to scatter the petals of Fordham's Rose Bowl dreams when they meet before 55,000 in the Polo Grounds on Saturday.

Such was the conclusion reached by many of the pseudo-quasi-semi-demi-experts who watched Slip Madigan put his thundering herd of Californians through their paces today. The men of St. Mary's engaged in their first workout since arriving from the coast on the polo field that adjoins their lavish quarters in the Westchester country club. Merely to say they were "impressive" is like calling the Grand Canyon "cute."

Fast Line

The first line, which averages about 215 pounds from end to end, was amazingly fast and charged with a wickedness which, when viewed head-on, made you wonder how California and U. S. C. ever stopped it without the help of elephant guns.

The backfield, the "baby" of which is 188 pound George Wilson, moved about with speed, savvy and drive. Wilson, who is rated by Madigan as the "nearest thing to George Glipp I ever saw," is supposed to be the ace of the backs, but this observer's eye was caught by Fullback George Dodson, 207 pounds of bone and muscle. If Fordham's forward wall turns Brother Dodson back consistently, we'll be surprised. Halfback Nichellini, who despite his 210 pounds was fast enough to nail "Cotton" Warburton of U. S. C. from behind in an open field, was another who looked good.

Madigan Better

Coach Madigan made no bones about calling his team a good one. "It's the best St. Mary's squad I've ever had," he said. "I say that even though we've been beaten twice. It hasn't reached its peak, however, but one of these Saturdays it's going to let's hope it'll be this week against Crowley's boys. If it does you'll see a ball game. We're in fine shape this year too. Not a traveling hospital like 1932. The only man not fit is Fiese, the best kicker on the squad. We lost him when he hurt a trick knee in the workout at Chicago."

New Bleachers

Madigan expressed the hope that 1935 would see the St. Mary's-Fordham game played on the coast. "We'd like to have them out next year, but that's hardly possible because of our commitments out there and Fordham's here. But the year after that probably will see us entertaining them."

No game in years has attracted such interest in New York as the one Saturday. Officials have ordered the construction of 8000 temporary bleacher seats which, if filled, will swell the attendance to 55,000.

border. It took like war with Russia.

Roosevelt acted immediately. Conversations began between William C. Bullitt, State Department aide, and Boris Skvirsky, unofficial ambassador. Confident of Roosevelt's support, the Russians immediately stiffened their policy toward Japan.

Now the War Department is preparing for even closer cooperation with the Soviet. It will help Livin' off place orders in this country for armored cars and tanks.

Roosevelt feels just as strongly as did Secretary Stimson that Japanese imperialism is a threat to the United States. The only difference is in their method of attack. Stimson deluged Japan with notes. Roosevelt has built up the Navy and cooperated with Russia.

Result: Japan is now suggesting a Pacific peace conference.

MORE TO COME

The Senate bank investigating committee has decided not to conclude its sensational probes by January.

That was the deadline fixed when it resumed hearings last month. Chairman Fletcher, and Senator Jim Couzens, leading spirits on the committee, thought the work could be wound up by them.

But as a result of new secret information they have changed their minds. They plan now to recall J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and Dillon, Read & Co. put them through the jumps on new data Council Pecora has unearthed. These new inquiries are to be in addition to the exhaustive airing of the New York Stock Exchange.

This fits in with F. D. R.'s plan to seek legislation setting up drastic curbs and restraints on security and commodity exchanges.

MERRY GO-ROUND

Flanked with the important names of Professor Raymond Moley and Vincent Astor, Moley's magazine, "Today," is attracting attention in the Capital. Also considerable comment. Said Gutzon Borglum, famous sculptor: "When two rods get together and decide to have children, you expect a real product." Secretary Wallace had a special meeting of his Agriculture Department in Child's Restaurant the other day. Field workers from the entire U. S. A. reported over soup and sandwiches. Dynamic Isabella Greenway, Arizona's new Congresswoman, is living in the house of Elinor Glyn, British novelist. Mrs. Glyn lived in the garage adjoining the house while she remodeled it, then got tired of Washington and moved back to England. She specializes in seagreen bathrooms.

Capital gum-chewers are blaming NRA for the increase price of their toffee. Cut rate drug stores no longer sell gum three packages for ten cents. Most of the Brain Trust have taken houses in historic Georgetown which nestled on the banks of the Potomac when Washington was only a mudflat. "The first thing most men do when they get a job," observed Secretary of Labor Perkins at a press conference "is to have their suit cleaned." Sotto voice from the rear: "Quite so. But how does that help the clothing business?"

INDUSTRIES OPPOSITION TO NRA PLAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—UP—

Interests dissatisfied with the recovery program are abandoning their earlier stalling tactics and bringing up the heavy artillery, but though many chances are inevitable, indications were that for the present at least President Roosevelt will stand by his program.

Administration supporters recognize the danger to the program inherent in the wave of criticism now being directed primarily at NRA and monetary uncertainty, but feel that opposition is not nearly as strong as some forecasts indicate.

Through the early period of NRA operation, they point out, criticism was under what amounted to a voluntary ban.

Even skeptics who doubted the soundness of administration methods felt that any program was better than no program, and that opposition would simply lead to a deadlock ending in economic disintegration.

That feeling lasted through the period of formulation of major codes.

Then a few guarded thrusts were made, and it was discovered that no public outcry resulted and nothing much happened to the critics. So the thrusts became less guarded. The Ford deadlock and the captive coal mine wrangle made it evident that NRA could be openly opposed without immediate serious consequences.

When that realization came opponents of various phases of the recovery program—farmers, industrialists and interests which felt they weren't getting a break—opened up with all the pent up criticism. The present criticism, the administration defenders contend, seems to be tremendous in volume because it really represents repressed feelings of months, all coming out in a period of a few weeks.

On the other side is the growing indication that a lot of powerful interests are downright angry about increased costs accompanied by increased income.

The most powerful threat to the administration's desire to continue along its chosen path appears to be the committee of heads of major industrial trade associations formed in New York Tuesday under auspices of the National Association of Manufacturers. The trade associations involved represent most major industrial production.

Robert L. Lund, president of the Manufacturers' Association and chairman of the committee reiterated today his belief that the national labor board was interfering with industrial peace, that the uncertainty over the dollar's future was hindering recovery and that the securities act was preventing needed capital expansion.

He criticized the plan proposed by Gerard Swope for a single gigantic trade association to govern industry with the cooperation of the government. Lund favors regulation of each division of industry by a separate group made up from members of that division.

Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson, who approves the Swope plan in general, made it clear today that he favored leaving the real authority to govern industry in the government's hands, and that the Swope plan wasn't for the immediate future. He denied recurring rumors that he planned to resign, and there was a decided inference that the basic policies of the NRA were not going to be changed.

To Register 100,000 Of Unemployed

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—Registration for California's 100,000 unemployed transients under the Federal emergency relief concentration program will be started within a few days. H. A. R. Carleton, director of the Federal Transient Service, announced here tonight.

From registration points at San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles, Sacramento and other centers of population, men will be sent to some 30 reformation and food control camps in various parts of the State.

"Of California's estimated 100,000 homeless persons," Carleton said, "some 23,000 are young men and girls and, while the men will be put to work on Federal projects, the care of female transients presents a more difficult problem. We hope to employ as many as possible in needlework and domestic pursuits, making garments for the Red Cross and similar relief agencies and for themselves and their families."

Transients, Carleton said, will live in camps for four-month periods.

Mrs. Marion Walser and family have moved to San Francisco where they will make their home.

Do you still call it your "LIGHT BILL"?

"MAYBE electric rates are lower," complains a customer, "but why is it that my light bill is higher than it was ten years ago?"

The answer is simple. That customer is still thinking of her bill for electricity as a "light bill."

Ten years ago it was chiefly a "light bill," for lights represented most of her electrical service. Today she has an electric refrigerator, a radio, a vacuum cleaner, a washing machine, an ironer, a portable heater, a toaster, a percolator, and numerous other electrical appliances.

Their cost of operation is of course included in her bill. She is paying less for her lights than she did ten years ago, and if her bill is higher it is because she is receiving increased service.

Every P. G. and E. customer is getting electricity today at rates that are among the lowest in the country.

Electricity is 25 per cent below the 1914 price level of general commodities. Other living costs are 33 per cent above that level, and they are steadily going higher.

When your next "light bill" comes in, think how little of it really represents lights, and how much of it represents the many other electrical comforts and conveniences that make your home modern.

HOLLYWOOD—UP—If fans ever begin writing in for his photograph, Ricardo Cortez will know he is slipping.

Cortez is a villain and he does all he can to remain one. No holding back for photographs, no charming smile. And "Ric" will tell you that being a meanie is just as difficult as being a ray and happy Lothario.

"The villain of the piece must be disliked," Cortez says. "If the audience likes him, it won't stand for him being boiled in a vat of acid, which is what happens to me in my new show 'The Shake-down.' And who wants to be disappointed?"

Thus, if folks begin clamoring for his picture, Cortez will know that he's not being hated so much.

"Don't you ever long for the day when you can sort of retire from 'this black world'?" I asked him. "At this rebelling of the innocent and angelic and just be a plain fellow well liked by everybody?"

"Oh, I don't know," he replied. "It sounds a little odd, doesn't it? After all, there are so many odd people in the world."

Then Cortez will tell you about "The Maltese Falcon," wherein he played a hard-headed businessman who became a bit of a philosopher, cunning and fearless. The picture went over big.

"But it nearly succeeded in getting me liked," sighed Cortez. "That's the worst thing that could happen."

SHOOTER OF HEADLINES IS KNOCKOUT

Paramount's "Big Executive" exciting drama of the private life of a handsome young Wall Street financier, opens on a double bill program with "Headline Shooter" at the Fox theater today.

"Big Executive" Ricardo Cortez, Richard Bennett, Elizabeth Young and Sharon Lynne are prominent in the large cast. The film, an original by Alice Duer Miller, famous Saturday Evening Post writer, was directed by Erle Kenton.

"Big Executive" is the story of a new generation financier played by Ricardo Cortez, who skyrocketed to fortune with his clever manipulations in the market. He has clear sailing until he attempts to swing a deal with a crafty, blustering old-fashioned financial power, played by Richard Bennett.

Complications ensue when Bennett discovers that Cortez is in love with his errand-girl daughter and he decides to break the impending match and Cortez at the same time.

A dramatic series of events follows, in which the two powerful rivals are seen gathering their forces, each attempting to strike the other of power, glory and wealth. The film reaches its conclusion in an exciting and unusual climax.

"Headline Shooter" is a first motion picture drama and romance of a young newspaper cameraman out to make a new scoop every day. William Gargan, Frances Dee, Ralph Bellamy, Jack La Rue, Gregory Ratooff, Wallace Ford, Hobart Cavanaugh and other film notables appear in the starring roles.

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Glimming from the boxers.

The New York Stock Exchange, now moving across the river to New Jersey was planning a more distant jump a month ago. To Montreal, Canada. Al Smith will probably drop his current event's magazine at the expiration of his present contract. We hear that Yalta's football anthem this season will be "Hail Your Man". A popular "hot" magazine has just been removed from the newsstands because of a too torrid nudist cartoon in the last edition. Local jewelers are holding up the sale of gold rings until they knew the outcome of the Federal Government embargo. That new series of Goodyear newsreels has the Islamic roving. Gene Austin, the chubby warbler of photograph records a few years back, is trying to make a comeback.

WITH each succeeding state to testify the prices of Scotch peroxide bounce a little bit higher. A once famous prizefighter desperate for cash is trying to peddle an expose yarn to the papers. All about how he threw a big fight a few years back. No takers to date. It costs $200 per day to run a big Times Square brewery clock. But it's still about two hours off time. And speaking of electric signs, a carpenter, tearing down a big toothpaste sign over looking the Square, came upon a newspaper blown on to the roof many years ago. The headline read "America Declares War." Ty Cobb, baseball hero of the past, will return to the diamond again next season as the coach for a big league outfit. H. H. Rogers, Jr. Standard Oil son, invested a million dollars in a Long Island studio. By order of his father all the pictures must be educational and enlightening.

UNCLE SAM'S long delayed recognition of Russia should be announced any day. Why shouldn't we recognize Russia? After all, half of its male population is over here in America dancing in vaudeville. Five thousand pounds of broadcasting equipment is to be loaded aboard the flagship of the second World Maritime Exposition. All of it will be in broad, roasting from America. With the protection business shot and speckles adorning the open door policy, writes Charlie Harris, "the poor polkman who can't play the piano."

CHAPTER VII

Jim and Mary reached the station that afternoon, they found their suitcases had arrived. Mary had been worried because she had left hers unlocked when they had so hastily jumped off the Chicago train. So she and Jim went into the waiting room and sat down while she looked to see whether everything was in it.

As she sprang the catch, the lid popped open and out slid a modish snakeskin purse.

"Why, look, Jim!" she gasped. "This isn't mine!"

"Isn't the suitcase yours?"

"Yes—here are my slippers, my toilet things, my negligee—but that purse doesn't belong to me."

"A gift. Someone wanted to surprise you."

"Impossible. I know it wasn't there when I left Clarkburg."

"Look inside it."

"Yes, I guess we had. But if we go now, Jim, we won't get the bank now anyhow. It's almost three. So we'd better do this first. I don't like having other people's money."

He got no further. Mrs. Williams fairly beamed as she interrupted him.

"Come in!" she cried. "You have found my pocketbook!"

The explanation was fairly simple. Mrs. Williams had gone to Chicago to bring her daughter back to New York. She had sat just behind the Tibbets on the westbound train they had mistakenly boarded. Somehow Mary's suitcase had got mixed with her luggage and she had absent-mindedly stuck her purse into it. She hadn't realized what she had done with it until the suitcase had been taken away to be sent back to New York.

"So stupid of me! Really, I owe you some reward."

"No, indeed," Jim protested. "We don't want a thing!" Then an idea occurred to him. "Unless—"

"Do let me do something."

Jim glanced at Mary, then said, "We don't want any reward."

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT

THE Miami Florida police force is whipping itself into perfect condition in expectation of the annual crop of northern millionaires who seem to be worried over the kidnapping epidemic. Speedboats are being built on the lengthy causeways and things are being made pretty tough for the boys contemplating the "snatch" business. The announcer on the Globe Trotter newsreels still persists in mispronouncing it—Current Events.

THE most popular number of the week in these parts is that ditty with the cow-puncher singing "The Last Round-Up." Some of the prim, proper and Puritanical Broadway stars (there are a few) would be amused and possibly infuriated if they could read some of the imaginative stories about their shady pasts in the various magazines specializing in snuff. And not that anybody asked us but just what does a nudist do for pocket money, mama? Anne V. Schreier flopped miserably on Broadway, falling far below expectations. The talk is that she and David Hutton are on the outs temporarily and will team up again later. After their publicity men have figured out a brand new scheme to crack the front paces.

TOURISTS are wiser up to the sightseeing racket, and business in the line has reached a new all-time low. Last week the bus boys agreed to drop the wages of their "come-ons" (professional bus sitters) from $2.50 per day to $1.50. There could be no better indication of returning prosperity than the news that Texas

Jim Tibbets, small-town salesman for a vacuum corporation, is transferred to the New York office. Just before he leaves, he marries Mary Dalton. By mistake they take a train for Chicago instead of New York. They finally get on the right train but, in their excitement, forget their bags, which travel to Chicago. Arrived in New York, the couple take a little studio apartment in Greenwich Village. They set out one afternoon to shop for furniture.

They hurried to a department store and plunged into expenditures for draperies and furniture. These proved to be costly. Two hundred dollars was accounted for in no time.

"But I'll soon be making more," Jim told Mary. "So don't worry."

He gave the salesman two of Mrs. Williams' crisp one-hundred-dollar bills. The man left, but very soon returned.

"I can't advise you to make any more like this!" he told Jim sarcastically.

"Why, what do you mean?"

"Mean? I mean they're counterfeit!"

Jim swallowed hard. Mary looked dumfounded. A store detective appeared and told them they would have to go to the manager's office to await the police.

It was an awful situation. They dared not speak. Humiliated, imagining all eyes upon them, they followed him through the store to the manager's office.

A POLICE detective appeared shortly and eyed them grimly.

"We got a nationwide alarm out for these bills," he told the manager. "Slick customers—part of a national gang. And look—besides their counterfeiting, they have to go in for petty larceny. Where did you folks get those bags?"

Mary bristled at that, and found her tongue. "Those bags are ours!"

"Say, aren't you ashamed! Those bags belong to a Mrs. Williams. She just reported the loss. Well, come along."

"Where are we going?"

"To the station house to be booked."

"Booked! Jim—booked!" Mary sobbed.

"Come now. You must have been there before," said the detective.

He hustled them out of the store and into the police station. Mary hid her face from the staring throng on the sidewalk.

"WHAT is going to become of us, Jim?" she whispered despairingly as they sped through the city.

Jim put his arm around her, and she snuggled up to him, silently weeping.

"They can't make criminals out of us so easily, darling. So why not rely on our innocence? Why not face this little mishap with our accustomed good cheer?"

"Mary wiped her eyes. 'Well, Jim, I know you are brave. So are we!'"

"So are you brave, Mary. And we'll get out of this."

"Jim, it does seem awful, though, the way we're losing everything! Our clothes, our furniture, our money, our home—"

"But not our honor. Nor our love, Mary!"

Mary glanced up into Jim's honest face and smiled.

"Jim—I love you more than ever!"

Unusual conversation for a New York patrol wagon. The vehicle came to a sudden jerking halt.

"Well, see it through, Mary!" Jim whispered.

"Well, come on, you love-birds!" the detective growled.

Your Good HEALTH

By CLAUD N. CHRISMAN, M.D.

How to Diagnose Alarm Signals of Sleeping Sickness

THE cry of "Wolf! Wolf!" continues to come from all parts of the country, where anything resembling sleeping sickness or encephalitis has been reported.

Most of these alarms are quite as false as those of the old fairy tale. On the other hand, the profession is bound to answer inquiries with all frankness and sincerity. The danger is prevalent and quite able to make its appearance in unexpected places. But I recall my father's admonition given years ago: "Don't cry till you're hurt," and it is well to remember that, when fear threatens.

THE prevailing symptoms of encephalitis have been repeatedly given. The fact that they are similar to those of other affections has also been stressed. There are few cases where the preliminary evidences do not resemble those of influenza. We do not intend to alarm all the potential victims of influenza by stressing the need of extreme care when any of these evidences appear. Influenza is always serious and does not need to develop into encephalitis to leave some distressing results or even to cause death. Brain disturbances, likewise, whatever their nature, are to be regarded with every respect for possible serious developments. Either of these types of disease should be treated promptly and carefully isolated.

PROBABLY the most reliable symptom of encephalitis is a noticeable disturbance of the central nervous system. This disturbance may or may not be localized. When it is not localized, the nervousness of the patient is affected and the patient sees double or if the face twitches and speech becomes defective. If there is any paralysis at all, it is likely to show up first in the face or throat. The fever does not run very high and may be accompanied by a rash on the skin. This rash is not characteristic and fades quickly. A significant form of pain is found in the back of the neck. When this distress makes the patient refuse to bend his head forward with chin on chest, it is likely some form of brain disease is present.

IF ALL of the apprehension in the country over the prevailing epidemic of encephalitis could be translated into a new sort of preparedness, the effect need not be lost. Follow the public press as it gives the detailed efforts of our best medical forces to ferret out the cause and cure of the disease. Above all, maintain your own mental poise if any suspicious symptoms break out near you.

THE degree of infectivity of encephalitis is not high and there is no particular need for requiring adults to remain at home if they are careful to keep themselves in good physical condition. Where there are children in an infected home they should remain away from school at least three weeks. Any ordinary precautions by way of cleansing and disinfecting are to be expected. If at all possible, a trained nurse should be in charge or the patient removed to a hospital ward.

QUERY: Mrs. E. H. H. When you say we must keep any one who seems to have an infectious disease entirely to himself, you do not tell us how to do it. It is quite difficult, especially if the patient is a child, to keep him in close confinement.

ANSWER: Make the period of illness interesting. No doubt, you are willing to pay any reasonable price for care and advice when a member of your family is really ill. The why not invest something special in a period which may determine that the illness might be avoided. Sometimes the rest and change may do the curative work, especially if the time can be spent agreeably. New games, new books, some desirable equipment for the sick room make a possible insurance against further expense and nerve wear.

For Burns

There is nothing more soothing for either a burn or a scald than the white of an egg. It is contact with the air which makes a burn so painful and the egg acts as a varnish and excludes the air completely, also preventing inflammation.

MISS HUNT

decalogue of beauty. No other way can you achieve an appearance that is young and attractive and truly beautiful. And nothing will put you in a happy "all's right with the world" mood quicker than the knowledge that you look well.

In yesterday's column we discussed the proper selection and use of lipstick—lessen number one in the art of making up. Today I want to begin with the other, cosmetic intended to enliven your skin and give you personality and color. Select the one or two colors of rouge that blend most harmoniously with your natural coloring and then study its proper application.

Put your rouge on the area that you usually color and then look critically into your mirror. Does the color lie in bright round spots on either cheek giving you an artificial, self-conscious appearance? Does it make your cheeks look hollow and your face long and thin or just the opposite? Or does it give your cheeks a naturally rounded, youthful look, too subtle to be really noticeable, but with the delicate flush of health and sunnier air. That is the way you should look and you must strive to make it do that for you.

Powder is another cosmetic whose choice is more important than its use. It must be chosen for both color and weight. A powder that is right for you can be dusted over the skin and will remove any shiny appearance without being at all noticeable—it blends so well. An oily skin will need a slightly heavier powder than a dry skin, so if your powder seems to cake or to slip away a few minutes after you apply it, it is a pretty good sign that the texture is not right for your skin. Try something lighter if your skin seems to be dry—something heavier if your skin seems to be oily.

And keep your powder fluffy. Be sure that the constant puffing with your powder puff does not pack it. Fluffy powder spreads much more evenly and it makes your skin seem much finer and smoother in texture.

Eyebrow pencils, eye shadow, and eye makeup are made by manufacturers who are doing their best to meet the demands for greater eye beauty. Yet these beauty aids are frequently misused. Women defeat their own purpose by using too much mascara on their lashes, by using too many artificial eyelashes and by tweezing away so many hairs in their eyebrows that their faces look blank and expressionless.

I approve of eye make-up. It can do such lovely things for you if you are careful—it can give your face a soft, youthful expression or make you look sophisticated. But if you are careless or overdo the job it will make your eyes look old and artificial and hard.

When you use mascara, use plenty of water on your brush, and then blink your eyes against an absorbent tissue to take away all the excess color and prevent your lashes from sticking together. Then let them dry thoroughly and spread a little vaseline or eye cream between your thumb and forefinger and pinch your lashes between them. A little coating of cream prevents the color from running, gives your lashes gloss and makes them seem more natural. Shape your eyebrows, but be very, very careful not to darken them too much. Experiment with eye shadow until you find one that gives your eyes depth and sparkle. Be careful about eye shadow in the daytime and always apply it subtly. If a single color doesn't seem to do the job satisfactorily try blending two colors like bronze and green or blue and green together and see what happens.

Did You Know?

A little kerosene in hot water will whiten the cellar steps. Empty spoons are good for baby to play with. About every three months the house fern will appreciate a watering containing a little ammonia. It will make it green and glossy.

Tea stains may be removed from china cups by washing them with vinegar and salt. Vinegar is also good for clearing glass water bottles. When pouring hot jelly fruit or pickles into glass jars, stand the jar on a damp cloth and it will hardly ever crack.

DOING THINGS WITH TOMATOES

By JUDITH WILSON

AT NO other time of the year are tomatoes so plentiful as now. If you do not have your own garden-bushes in your garden—then you can buy both the plump luscious red tomatoes and the little green ones for practically a song, in your nearest vegetable market. I'm thinking of canning, of course, tomatoes as sauces or pickles or marvelous meats and relishes do marvelous things to your winter menus—but you needn't wait until then to use them in all kinds of interesting ways. They are grand in chowders, in mole combinations and grilled with chunks of lamb or bacon.

Chili Sauce I'll try to give you some recipes both for canning and for using the tomatoes fresh. Since chili sauce is one of the most popular condiments in most homes, let's have that recipe first. Take twelve large ripe tomatoes, hold over a flame for an instant or dip in scalding water and remove the skins, chop fine and mix with two onions, chopped, three green peppers chopped, two cups of vinegar, a tablespoon mustard, one teaspoon cinnamon one teaspoon nutmeg, one cup sugar and two tablespoons salt. Cook the sauce in a preserving kettle until it is thick, or for about one hour, and seal it in scalded jars or bottles.

Tomato-Apple Relish For the relish in the second menu, use twelve small green tomatoes and the same number of small green apples, pared and cored. Chop coarsely together and add four medium sized chopped onions and one pound of seeded raisins. Boil for twenty minutes, one quart of vinegar, two cups brown sugar, two tablespoons of salt in two tablespoons of a mixture of cinnamon, allspice and cloves (tied in a bag). Add the vegetables and fruit and cook until thick and clear, then add one teaspoon of curry powder and one-eighth teaspoon of cayenne pepper. This is better if it stands a month before using.

Green Tomato Soup And here is a soup of green tomatoes that makes an excellent supper dish. Fry one-half cup of diced carrots, one cup of diced potatoes, one cup of celery cut into small pieces, one medium-sized onion, minced and sautéed in butter until brown and enough boiling water to cover. Cook until the vegetables are tender then add four cups of thin white sauce. Heat two cups of cut up green tomatoes and when tender add one-fourth teaspoon of soda. Mix well combine with the other mixture and serve.

Tomato Mincemeat Green tomatoes make a delicious mincemeat that will keep all winter and will resemble real mincemeat. Chop six green tomatoes and twelve tart apples together and mix with one-half pound each of raisins and currants, one-half cup vinegar, one cup brown sugar, one and one-half cups ground beef suet, one and one-half teaspoons cinnamon, one-half teaspoon ground cloves and one-half teaspoon each of ground allspice, mace and pepper, and one teaspoon salt. Boil the mixture for one hour, pour into clean hot jars and seal at once.

PATOU PAINTS A FALL PORTRAIT

This graceful gown in blackberry crepe roma by Patou, features fan pleats and a square train.

New York — October means exciting football doings, motor trips, tea dances, dinners along the road and lunches eaten hurriedly just before the game—all big moments really and require very special dressing.

Women are second to none during October and November for the aforesaid reasons, and also because we all like to dramatize a new season and score rushing from one extreme to another.

Tweed Coat Suit

If you are one who feels at home in tweeds, and have no use, literally as well as figuratively, for anything but plain clothes, you will like the idea of the almost full-length coat with matching skirt. For with it you may have an assortment of blouses. It's quite possible you may get through the winter with such a modest wardrobe, supplemented if you like by a fur piece and muff.

While one hears less of sports clothes, especially for fall, one sees more and more of them on the right sort of people. Glamorous clothes are all very thrilling, but they can be absurd when worn at the wrong time. Most of us have to be practical and so scout around looking for the impossible sort of dress that is never out of place and always just right anywhere, any place.

Caplets Are Coming

Ye old capulet dress, sponsored by Molyneux, which is back into circulation this fall, is genuinely interpreted as a "compromise" fashion that is needed for women who are apt to fight shy of the sleeved dinner dress. The elbow length of the caplet, and the heavy petal border that defines its length, give it a new aspect, particularly in keeping with the new intention to divert trimming interest on the arms, well below the shoulders.

You and Your Child

TRUSTED CHILD IS HONEST ONE

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

LIKE the story of the Chinese gentleman who coughed and said, "Beg pardon," when he came upon a servant in the act of stealing his jewels. It exemplifies a degree of courtesy which is totally disarming.

Here is what would happen next. If the story of the Chinese gentleman did not end so abruptly, the servant would return the jewels to the place in the wall from which he took them. He would take the time to put them back just as he found them. And if his master were still watching, he would say politely, "My error. I'm sorry." Then he would bow his way out of the room.

Isn't likely that he would try to steal his master's jewels again. He might help himself to some extra rice, or walk off with a silk robe sometime. But this isn't likely either, as even thieves have a sense of honor. They do not flinch from those whom they know to trust them.

Win Child's Confidence It seems to me that there is a lesson for parents in the story of the Chinese gentleman and the thief. We shouldn't lay in wait for a child to make mistakes. Rather, we should be big enough to understand and thus in the process of growing up mistakes WILL happen, and that these need to be corrected as they occur.

It certainly is very careless for a parent to allow himself to catch a child at mischief. It always works against him. You can't pounce upon a child and say, "I've got you," and expect him to like you for it. If the child is guilty he resents being caught. And it goes without saying, of course, that if the mistake was accidental on his part, he won't feel kindly disposed.

If a parent comes upon a child engaged in mischief, the least he can do is make his presence known. This is the time to be friendly. For whether a child knows his guilt or not, we can't correct him without his cooperation.

The Proper Attitude

A naughty child does not enjoy being naughty. He really wants to be good. There are many more satisfactions in store for him as a good child. A child believes in himself to the extent that we believe in him. We must prove to him by our actions and words that nothing can change our love, loyalty and fairness. When we punish him it is not for revenge but to teach him a lesson.

France Likes Our New Ambassador . . . Knowing When You're Shot

AMONG the very few officials with whom President Roosevelt conferred on his recent visit to New York City, was Jesse I. Straus, Ambassador to France and former head of a large department store in that city.

This tall, kindly philanthropist who represents the United States in France manages to keep out of the public eye, for one of his greatest attributes is a deep modesty. Ambassador Straus is on a brief visit to America and spoke to the President of foreign debts, instalments of which will fall due December 15.

To use a bit of slang, which is not at all the language of diplomats, if Jesse Straus gets the news, he stands a chance of becoming as great a hero to the French people, as was Myron T. Herrick, French popular opinion seems to be in his favor.

The French are an emotional race. They love to set the idols and to worship heroes. When Mr. Straus first went to Paris the French press was unanimously hostile and one of the foremost newspapers even printed on its front page the story of the stoical death of the Ambassador's parents, who lost their lives in the Titanic disaster.

This story is a touching example of stoicism. When an officer aboard the ill-fated steamer which crashed into an iceberg, in April 1912, urged Mrs. Straus to get into a lifeboat, she said, "No. We, my husband and myself, have arrived at the end of life. There are young people to save. Take a young man or woman instead of me. We have had all that life has to offer and now we shall have the culminating pleasure of dying together."

After relating this story, the newspaper said: "Like father like son." If the proverb holds good in this case, the United States will be represented in Paris by a man of character like Myron Herrick, who was to us more than an ambassador—who was a hero.

FROM time to time during the past few years attempts have been made to assassinate Lord Gerald Strickland, former Prime Minister of Malta. Strickland is the aim of the gunmen was poor and the life of this 72-year-old author, soldier, sportsman and diplomat has been spared.

Some years ago when at attempt was made on his life, Lord Strickland said: "I knew I wasn't hit when I heard the shot. As a boy, I used to hunt in Ireland, and the saying there was that if you hear the shot, you aren't hit."

This thorough-going Englishman, who at one time held both a seat in the House of Commons from Lancaster and a seat in the Malta Legislative Assembly comes from one of the oldest families of Westmorland. Their pedigree goes back some thirty generations in a direct line. They made their mark in English history in the remote days when the forefathers of some of the "old nobility" of England had not yet emerged from obscurity.

A Strickland figured as a hostage when the Spaniards were granted and another bore the banner of St. George on the field of Agincourt. They settled in Westmorland in the days of Henry III and there have been twenty generations since. Lord Strickland is the present Lord Strickland is master. He is the sixth Count della Catena, which title he inherits from his mother, Louisa Bonci, heiress of Sir Nicholas Bonci, Bologna, fifth Count della Catena.

Sizergh Castle stands in an estate of 1500 acres. The Peel Tower, Sizergh still possesses intact the "fighting deck" from which so much deadly work was done in the days of the Plantagenets, and the raids of the Civil Wars of the Stuarts.

Lady Edeline Sackville, daughter of the Seventh Earl De La Warr, who was the first wife of Lord Strickland died in 1918. In 1926 he married Miss Margaret Hulton, sister of the late Sir Edward Hulton.

MODES AND MANNERS

QUESTION: "When entering and leaving a restaurant, who goes first, the woman or her escort?"—Wm. P.

ANSWER: The woman goes first each time. Upon entering she follows the waiter to their table. When two or more couples are dining at a restaurant, the women go first, the first man following behind the last woman.

QUESTION: "At a reception would the President and his wife be announced? Would he or his wife enter first?"—Osborn LER.

ANSWER: The correct announcement is as follows: "The President and Mrs. Roosevelt." The President would enter first, with his wife following directly behind.

LOVE IS ONLY A FOUNDATION FOR HAPPINESS

By MARIAN MAY'S MARTIN

THOSE who make a practice of handing out advice to perplexed young women who do not know whether to marry Tom, Dick or Harry, always seem to me to bear a frightful burden of responsibility.

providing of course that their advice is acted upon. It's hard enough sometimes to know whether you sell who to marry or not to marry, without attempting to advise others. After all, everybody wants happiness out of marriage and opinions do differ as to what constitutes happiness.

IT'S MONEY, and lots of it, plus of course all the advantages money brings, that some want. It's love, romantic love that others pine for, with never ending thrills, and it's power and social position with others. But with few exceptions parenthood is always included in the program.

A MARRIAGE without love must have a great deal to offer before one should, for one moment, consider it. A marriage with nothing to offer but love may sound ideal to the romantic, but the chances are that it will be more devastating in its effect than the one with love left out. Love is not all in marriage and never let anyone tell you it is.

WHAT do we mean by love? Each interprets it differently. Yet, who can give any lucid description or explanation of love so that one who has never experienced it can get the faintest inkling of its true meaning?

EVERYONE who has learned anything of life at all knows that there are many varieties of love and almost any of them are "real" enough at the time. A deep affection is love of sort, and a good variety for a long hard pull, but it can't be passed off as the romantic "real thing." Nor can the spontaneous combustion species be sold to sensible folks as the genuine article. Love may fly out of the window even when there is no wolf on the doorstep.

IN FACT the richer the household the faster love flies as the files of any newspaper will prove. It's the rich who ride to Reno. If one must have a wolf in the house rearing its young, the pleasant little rag, it would certainly be easier to bear had one the warmth of love to keep one's courage. That is, the right sort of love, not the self-centered, monopolistic kind.

LOVE can be cruelly exacting and selfish and it is this uncomfortable variety that drives so many husbands away from home. It repels rather than attracts. One may not approve of separate establishments for married couples, as have been tried out by outstanding personalities, but one ought to be able to recognize the fact that one might love someone very much and yet not be able to fit them into the pattern of their lives.

WHEN one is young, such readjustments are difficult enough, but marriages contracted later in life when habits are formed and one has taken root are not so easy to mold into suitable forms for the contracting parties.

IN THE old days it was the girl who usually made all the adjustments. She very often went to live in a strange city and began life all over again among strangers and away from her own people. Nowadays the situation is as often reversed. The man is drawn into her circle and made to conform to the pattern of her life.

MEN not being as adjustable as women, unwittingly complicate the scheme of reacting against it. It takes love, and a very understanding variety of love to overcome the practical obstacles in marriage, which is the best of all reasons for not marrying where there is no love, but no reason at all for assuming that because there is love nothing else matters. After all life cannot be lived at concert pitch.

Gum Easily Removed

Chewing gum may be removed from the little girl's frock or young son's best suit in the same manner, or it may be loosened by soaking in turpentine. With chewing gum the carbon tetrachloride or turpentine treatment will usually need to be followed by a soap and water bath to remove the sugar.

2 LIVES LOST IN CRASH OF AMPHIBIAN

AVALON, Catalina Island, Calif., Nov. 1.—UP—A heavy amphibian passenger plane crashed in Avalon bay today, killing a co-pilot and E. MacFarlane Moore, son-in-law of the late Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, who died in the Akron disaster.

Although there were no witnesses to the mishap, it was believed the plane fell just before or after it took off from the bay on its regular 25 mile run to the mainland.

Moore and George Baker, the co-pilot, suffered fractured skulls when they were thrown to the cabin floor. They were dead when rescuers reached the ship but Walter Stiller, the pilot, escaped with a broken leg and abrasions.

Seller was swimming around the wreckage of the ship when a coast guard patrol arrived, and he was taken to a hospital.

The three men were the only occupants of the amphibian when it started the first morning run. A Department of Commerce investigator planned an inquiry into the crash as soon as Seller could be questioned.

Moore lived on the island with his wife and three children. Mrs. Moore was the daughter of Admiral Moffett. Baker was unmarried.

The accident was the first in the history of the trans-channel airline, which has operated since June, 1931.

GIRL BANNED MARRIED FOR FIFTH TIME

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Cal., Nov. 2.—UP—The marriage of Irene (now Greta) Granstedt, Mountain View's tempestuous and beautiful flapper of a decade ago, to Ramon Ramos, New York mustel genius, brought back to the memories of local residents the story of the girl who was expelled from her home town.

When Irene took Ramos as her fourth husband, Mayor John P. O'Brien of New York performed the rites and Nancy Carroll, screen star, was among those present.

The "typical flapper" of Mountain View was 14 when she first made newspaper headlines 11 years ago.

The pretty child got a revolver one night and waited in the shadows of a church here. When her sweetheart Harold Galloway, 16, came from a church social with another girl she greeted him angrily.

A shot ended the dispute. Young Galloway was taken to a hospital dangerously wounded. Irene went to jail at San Jose. Murder charges were to be filed in case Galloway died. But he recovered and Irene was freed.

"I didn't mean to shoot him," Irene said. "The gun went off during a quarrel."

The court exacted a $5,000 bond from Mountain View for Irene.

To a career actress, she married Robert T. Hilder of Berkeley (Cal.). The marriage was annulled a few months later. Her third marriage was with an artist in the Bohemian quarter of San Francisco. It failed. Irene went to Hollywood and gained prominence in motion pictures.

Some of Irene's old neighbors think Irene doesn't want to come back to Mountain View. One of her last links with the community was broken in 1929. Her mother was one of 78 persons who drowned in the sinking of the steamer San Juan off the California coast.

the weekly newspaper, La Semana owned by Sergio Carco, one of the principal leaders in the revolt that set up the Grau regime.

The political outcome was much in doubt. The government still had the support of the students and troops, but was wobbling. Fulgencio Batista, the former sergeant, who was back of the army revolt and was made chief of staff, apparently is the man who will make or break the government.

He reiterated that the army will run things, but was looking to the politicians for hope of a stable regime. He was in constant touch with Colonel Carlos Mendieta, leader of the Nationalist party.

Mendieta, if he chose, probably could replace Grau San Martin as provisional president, but he does not want a temporary job preferring to wait for the constitutional elections next year, when he could be chosen for a full term. If the present regime is those mentioned as the most likely choices for provisional president are Mendez Penate, a Nationalist leader under Mendieta, and Miguel Mariano Gomez, one of the leading young politicians.
